“IXL Live is no ordinary professional development session. We’ve created a unique series of events that bring IXL to life and help educators discover insights and ideas that truly work,” said Paul Mishkin, CEO of IXL Learning. “IXL Live empowers teachers to personalize learning and each attendee will walk away with actionable strategies they can immediately use in their classrooms.”

Each IXL Live session covers four hours of professional development and is facilitated by an IXL Professional Learning Specialist who guides attendees through IXL’s key features. This includes strategies for the IXL Continuous Diagnostic, which delivers up-to-the-minute insights on student knowledge. The workshop also shows teachers how to use IXL’s comprehensive curriculum and personalized skill recommendations to easily differentiate learning. And with IXL Analytics, teachers will discover insights that allow them to make smarter instructional decisions.

“My colleague and I learned so much at IXL Live and couldn’t wait to get back to school to share with our teammates,” said Whitney Crawford, 5th grade teacher at Hancock Day School in Savannah, Georgia. “I’ve taught for 13 years, and IXL is the best tool I’ve encountered that supports differentiation and immediate implementation. It challenges students at all levels and motivates them along the way.”

Currently, more than 350,000 teachers and 7 million students around the world are using IXL. To learn more about IXL Live or hear testimonials from past events, visit www.ixllive.com and follow #IXLLive on Twitter.
